BREAK A CHILD'S COLD BY GIVING SYRUP OF FIGS

Look, Mother! Is tongue coated, breath feverish and stomach sour?

Cleanse the little liver and bowels and they get well quickly.

When your child suffers from a cold don't wait give this little stomach, liver and bowels a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

If your child coughs, snuffles and has caught cold or is feverish or has a sore throat give a good dose of "California Syrup of Figs," to evacuate the bowels, no difference what other treatment is given.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Advertisement.

SENTIMENT DIES IN WAR

No Shelter Under Cover of Charity or Nurse's Garb, Says German.

London, Oct. 29.—The Hamburger Nachrichten, as quoted by Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent, says in an article under the heading "Cavell Cant," that the recent trial of the conspirators proves that German officials whose duty, the newspaper says, is to tame and bridge Belgium, will not allow "any English woman or a subject of any other hostile nation to take shelter under the cover of charity or the costume of a nurse in order to assist our enemies behind the back of our warriors."

"We have forgotten sentimentality," continues the Nachrichten, "as the imperial chancellor said, and regarding the forgiving of English malice, the Kaiser has already spoken."

The newspaper says that Miss Cavell has become the Jeanne D'Arc of Brussels and an English national saint, but she did not fight with the banner of the church in her left hand and a sword in the other."

WHAT WAR MOVES MEAN.

BY J. W. T. MASON.

New York, Oct. 29.—The sudden cabinet crisis in France may be the beginning of the end of the war. It is an acknowledgment of France's dissatisfaction with the progress of events and is a final effort to put things to rights before the end is reached. If the new ministry can not bring about radical improvements in the military and diplomatic situations, France must then begin to consider terms of peace.

The immediate cause of the allies' loss of prestige in the Balkans. But deeper than this is the growing dependency of the inability of the army to drive the Germans out of France or to press forward in Alsace and Lorraine. With the war in so unsatisfactory a state at home, French public opinion does not approve of the dispatch of an expeditionary force to the Balkans. The Viviani cabinet has laid itself open to serious criticism because of the Balkan situation.

The French people unquestionably believe Great Britain should take over the responsibility of checking the Germans in the near east, and there is, too, an undoubted feeling that Mr. Viviani has not got as much effective assistance from the British as he ought. Criticism of Great Britain has lately become but thinly veiled, in France. French statesmen are now intimating that the British are guilty of hesitation and incompetence. The period of recrimination among members of any kind of coalition which is nearly always after a defeat, has not yet begun openly in Europe; but France is not concealing her disappointment at the character of the assistance she has received from her allies. The Viviani ministry, by offering its resignation, has brought France's relations with her allies to a place where there must be plain speaking. France can not afford to occupy second place in the interchanges of opinions among members of the quadruple entente.

The war is entering upon a phase of dangerous exhaustion for all the belligerents and the French people must be in an improved position diplomatically if they are to obtain the best results in the peace congress after the war. By changing her ministry, France will be in a position to ask for a new basis of understanding among the allies. This new basis, indeed, in its new meaning, must relate to the kind of peace acceptable to all the allies.

That being so, the Balkan situation may, in the end, work out favorably to France. The German threat against Egypt and other British eastern possessions makes the British empire for the first time really dependent upon the assistance of the allies.

France, therefore, can now take more convincingly to the British government than at any other time since the beginning of the war.

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness, and many expressions of sympathy during the sickness and death of our beloved daughter and sister. Also for the beautiful floral offerings.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Well-known local druggist says everybody is using old-time recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair, which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair, keeps the hair so healthy, so soft, so shiny, that it is a real beauty. It also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.—Advertisement.

Make your food more tempting with Cottolene

For making cakes, pies and pastry—for all shortening and frying—Cottolene is supreme.

Cottolene is an exact combination of the purest, richest, most carefully refined cottonseed oil and the choicest beef stearine obtained from selected, high grade leaf beef suet. Cottolene is itself one of the purest of pure foods.

Cottolene makes foods more digestible—more wholesome—makes them taste better. Use it for every kind of shortening and frying and for making cakes and pastries.

Cottolene

For a quarter of a century Cottolene has been growing steadily in favor. It is not offered as a substitute or as being "just as good" as other shortening and frying fats. It is an original product and better than anything else that you can use for shortening or frying. Insist on getting real Cottolene.

Cottolene is ready for use as you take it from the pail. It creams up beautifully and blends readily with the flour.

Use a third less of Cottolene than of any other shortening or frying fat. You can use it over and over for frying. Cottolene does not absorb tastes or odors. Always heat Cottolene slowly.

Pails of various sizes, to serve your convenience. Arrange with your grocer for a regular supply.

$1000.00 Reward!

"MISSING!—George Warham offers a reward of $1000.00 for information as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Susan Ferguson, nee Susan Lenox, his young niece."

Susan Lenox was forced by her uncle to marry a brutal farm hand. After the first night with him she fled, finding safety with a troupe of river actors. Now the words of that fateful newspaper paragraph seemed to threaten her security and imperil her future.

These new companions were social outcasts—and pathetically poor. A thousand dollars meant a fortune to them. With money so scarce and so useful, little would they scruple how they got it. It would be natural for them to recognize in her the missing niece of George Warham.

Would they deliver her back to the life which now was but a hideous memory? Better death than further degradation at the hands of her drunken husband.

The Story of Susan Lenox, Her Fall and Rise

You Must Read This Story

The heroine is depicted as an illegitimate child, and the purpose of the fiction is to show the blight of unhappy birth. Susan, beautiful and intelligent, is admired, but shunned by the whole village. She loves Sam Wright, a rich college boy. The village gossip about their attachment prompts Susan to run away to Cincinnati. Her uncle finds her, insists she has gone the way of her mother, and that Sam must marry her. To save the Warham name the stern uncle compels the innocent Susan to marry a low-bred farmer. Start "The Story of Susan Lenox" today. It is but one of the many great features that make Hearst's Magazine command your attention. "We Three," by Gouverneur Morris; "Rainbow's End," by Rex Beach, and a Marie Corelli novel, her first to appear in serial form, both to start soon, and the best work of Robert W. Chambers, George Randolph Chester, Larry Evans, Arthur Stringer, Henry C. Rowland, "Mr. Dooley," James Montgomery Flagg, Clarence Underwood, Howard Chandler Christy and many others.
